

Excels

I am currently studying for my BFA (Visual Arts) after having a very prestigious previous career as an academic in a very different disciplinary area (I have held three Chairs which I think translate to Full Professor in the USA). My background as a senior researcher has made me extremely skeptical of online journals. What an absolute pleasure to find 'tout-fait'. It is a rare production of standards that excel. I shall be visiting the journal pages very regularly from now on as I find this one of the best research resources around – online or on newsstands/library shelves/book store shelves.

Thank you for your generosity on making such a high standard resource available so widely and doing this so professionally.